Algeria Fighting Increases

Estimate 160 Killed In 24 Hours

ALGIERS, March 29 (AP)—Fighting between French troops and nationalist rebels appeared mounting today. Unofficial estimates of the dead in the past 24 hours were as high as 160.

The French were reinforcing the more than 200,000 troops already scattered over the vast North African territory. Robert Lacoste, resident minister of Algeria, assured the worried French inhabitants that the government is thinking about their protection.

The estimated number of dead included an officer and seven soldiers killed in an ambush near Guelma, between Constantine and the Tunisian frontier. At least 10 civilians, French and Algerian, were reported killed by the rebels. Among them was Jean Sammarcelli, an important French police official at Constantine.

Diversions

More publicity was being given to the dispatch of reinforcements, including the embarkation of 1,100 men of the French 7th mechanized division at Marseille this morning. This outfit, hitherto stationed in Germany, was considered one of the best-equipped divisions in Europe.

Removal of this unit from West Germany together with the French 5th division previously ordered to Algeria is considered by U.S. military observers to be a severe blow to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization creating a serious gap opposite Russia's power in East Germany.

Moderate nationalist leader Messali Hadj, whose influence is said to have declined, was moved today from a forced residence in continental France to Belle-Ile, off the coast of Brittany.

Less Grave

In the two former French protectorates of French North Africa, the situation appeared less grave than in Algeria. Habib Bourguiba, top nationalist leader in Tunisia, said in a radio interview that armed Tunisians would cooperate with the French in suppressing nationalist extremist rebels.

In Morocco, a leaflet signed by the "Army of Liberation" announced the "provisional cessation of military operations" against the French. It was not clear to what extent this body could control all guerrillas rebelling against the authority of the French and of Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef, who is negotiating with France.

37 Persons Saved On Ship

PROGRESO, Mexico, March 29 (AP)—The Mexican motorship Motul burned and sank yesterday off Yucatan Peninsula but all 37 persons aboard were rescued, port authorities said today.

The 22 passengers and 15 crewmen were in lifeboats, life rafts and lifebells when the Mexican coast guard vessel Virgilio Urbie reached them.

Aboard

All were taken aboard. An amphibian plane, first to arrive, lost a propeller on an attempted take-off. The plane began shipping water as it was being towed away by the coast guard vessel and was abandoned.

The 300-ton ship left Progreso on the northern tip of Yucatan Peninsula for Veracruz Tuesday. At 9 a.m. yesterday an engine room explosion shook the ship 6 miles northwest of Campeche.

Officials On Warpath

SCRANTON, March 29 (AP)—City officials and traffic officers went on the warpath today in search of persons—presumably juveniles—who used hammers to smash the glass "windows" in 32 of the city's new parking meters.

STRONG, ICY winds lashed the mid-continent yesterday, drifting snow in the North and blowing Texas dust eastward into Ohio.

An afternoon freeze gripped northern regions of the Midwest in the wake of heavy snows. Winds from 30 to 45 m.p.h. piled the powdery snow into drifts. Snow flurries continued throughout the day in the Great Lakes region.

President Holds Second Long Mystery Meeting With Dulles

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower had another long mystery meeting today with Secretary of State Dulles and this time Atty. Gen. Brownell sat in.

There was no disclosure officially of what this second such session in two days was about. But it stimulated further speculation that high policy decisions, possibly dealing with the Middle East and with disarmament negotiations at London, are in the making.

Yesterday's two-hour conference between the President and Dulles was described in advance as "very important." That meeting was held immediately after Eisenhower returned from talks with the leaders of Canada and Mexico at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Only Word

Today's meeting lasted for an hour and 15 minutes. Officially the only word on each of these sessions was that it dealt with government matters.

However, yesterday was the first time that Dulles had had an opportunity to go over pressing foreign policy problems with the President in more than three weeks. Dulles had been away on a visit to Asia from the first of the month until Wednesday of last week. The latter part of the week he was busy reporting to congressional leaders on his trip and preparing and delivering a broadcast to the nation last Friday night. He saw the President during that time but only to report on his travels.

The first days of this week were taken up with the White Sulphur Springs conference.

Hoover Admits 'Error' In Testimony On Chinese Trade

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told Senate investigators today he was "in error" when he testified Monday that the Chinese Nationalists were shipping millions of dollars worth of goods to the Communists every year.

Hoover told the Senate Investigations subcommittee, according to a transcript of his testimony made public after a closed-door hearing, that he has no evidence of any direct trade between the Formosa Nationalists and the Red Chinese.

He said there has been indirect trade, over which the Nationalist government has no control, through the British crown colony of Hong Kong. He said the Nationalists were on the receiving end of most of this trade, and that no strategic war goods were involved.

Made Public

Hoover's new testimony was made public by the subcommittee after a meeting during which it accepted "secret" administration documents on a confidential basis, and then turned them back when Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) walked out in protest against the secrecy rule.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.), who sided with McCarthy's view that the documents should be made public but agreed to accept them in private, said the subcommittee would have another go at it after it met to "review the situation."

McClellan said it will be necessary for the subcommittee to "determine its procedure" for handling the documents "in view of Sen. McCarthy's statements and departure from the committee."

The documents are the "international lists" of articles which the Western Allies have agreed not to sell to the Communists, including details of a 1954 Paris agreement to relax some of the embargo controls.

Judge Rules Against NAACP

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29 (AP)—A state judge today issued a preliminary ban against National Colored People activities in Louisiana just about the time a federal judge ordered the state to show whether it should halt its prosecution.

The double-barreled court action developed almost simultaneously in Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

Baruch Visits With President

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch met for a half hour today with President Eisenhower.

He declined to discuss his visit with newsmen, saying: "I never speak when I leave the President." The retired financier sees Eisenhower about twice a year.

Philadelphia Digging Out From Debris

PHILADELPHIA, March 29 (AP)—Huge cranes and bulldozers bit into the rubble of a demolished granary today searching for the bodies of men trapped when the four-story building exploded and burned to the ground.

The bodies of two of three men reported missing in last night's holocaust were recovered. Eighty-four persons were injured in the explosion which caused an estimated three million dollars in damages over a 10-block area in the busy 30th & Market Streets section of the city.

The shock wave sent out by the blast was recorded on the seismograph at Franklin Institute exactly 14 seconds after 8:06 p.m. EST. Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, said the shock was a high frequency wave of short duration. He said it was recorded in both the visual and photographic seismographs.

Flames

Flames leaped 150 feet into the air and the blast rent the air for a distance of 35 miles. Residents in homes remote from the scene ran to cellars to see if perhaps their hot water heaters had exploded.

Deputy Fire Chief William Haas said after a preliminary investigation that the blast probably was caused by an accumulation of dust that could have been set off by a spark. The Federal Bureau of Investigation joined city officials in seeking to determine the exact cause.

Listed as missing were: Vyron Whilden, 31, Dorchester, N. J.; Arthur Harrell, 35, Malaga, N. J.; and Edward Johnson, 39, Philadelphia. Whilden and Harrell were truck drivers, while Johnson was a laborer employed by the Tidewater Grain Co., operators of the granary. Those recovered were unidentified.

Investigators reported that there were about 30,000 tons of grain in the place when the blast occurred. There were some 20,000 tons of milled and bagged corn, oats, barley and wheat. Much of this was ready for shipment, employees said. There were about 10,000 tons of corn in the silos still standing after the blast.

The explosion raked the area which is two blocks west of the Schuylkill River separating the downtown section of the city from West Philadelphia. The granary was directly across the street from the 10-month old multimillion-dollar Philadelphia Bulletin building and only a block from the Pennsylvania Railroad's 30th Street station.

The Bulletin building took the full fury of the blast. Thick plate glass windows were shattered, walls cracked, ceilings buckled and partitions and doors were twisted and debris scattered over the spacious newspaper plant. The fourth-floor offices occupied by Robert McLean, publisher of the Bulletin and president of The Associated Press, were wrecked.

Lines Down

Outside on Market Street havoc was wrought. Communications lines were torn down, electric signs blasted off their moorings, windows in almost every building shattered, and fragments of metal and wood showered through the air like firecrackers on the Fourth of July.

Pedestrians were knocked off their feet and night workers in office buildings were jolted out of their chairs. Every piece of fire equipment in the city rushed to the scene as did most of the city's official family, including Mayor Richardson Dilworth.

Workers in the demolished warehouse said they were alive "by a miracle." Samuel Purdy said he was attempting to light a pilot light in a drying vat when the blast was touched off. The building collapsed almost immediately. Purdy and three or four others managed to escape only with injuries.

Preliminary estimates of damage, included a million dollars by the granary people; $500,000 by the Bulletin, and $250,000 to the nearby Railway Express agency. The Drexel Institute of Technology, where five of the engineering school's six buildings were hard hit, estimated damages of $300,000 and up.

Married In Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, March 29 (AP)—U. S. Navy Lt. Richard Stark of Riverhead, N. Y., and Miss Ann Killian, of Jenkintown, Pa., near Philadelphia, were married late this afternoon by the mayor of Monaco.

FRONT END OF this car, operated by Fred E. Hill, 77, Tannersville, crashed into the left side of the tractor-trailer, driven by Edward C. Haduck, 32, Avoca, at the intersection of Ninth and Sarah Sts. Police said Hill, unable to see anything coming in the opposite direction, was making a turn off Ninth St. into Sarah when the accident occurred. Although neither driver was injured, close to $400 damage was caused. Stroudsburg Police Chief James McConnell is speaking with Mr. Hill.

Leader Reveals Time Needed To Clarify Sales Tax Law

HARRISBURG, March 29 (AP)—Gov. Leader said today it will "take some time" to work out regulations on taxable and non taxable items to clarify the 3 per cent sales tax law.

"The attorney general is working with the Revenue Department to develop a set of regulations for enforcement of the law," the governor told his monthly news conference for weekly newspapers.

"I am not, have not been and will not be a proponent of the sales tax," he declared. "And some of those who have supported it might have thought about problems such as these."

He was asked when merchants throughout the state could expect specific rules governing collection of the tax.

The governor emphasized that if amendments to the law, now being discussed by the Legislature, exempt more items the yield of the tax will diminish rapidly.

"In that case (of more exemption) I don't expect it will bring in anything close to the 322 million dollars expected by some people."

Preliminary

The Revenue Department, which administers the tax, has prepared some preliminary regulations but they are being held up by the Justice Department pending amendments to the law.

"The law will take time to clarify and it will work a hardship on some merchants," the governor added. "I don't like it and I don't expect the public will like it. But there is nothing much either of us can do about it . . ."

The governor touched on a dozen other subjects during his second meeting with the weekly press. It lasted nearly a full hour.

Services Continue Requests For Needed Finances

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—The Air Force says it is going to have to have billions of dollars more for years to come.

The Navy continues to worry about the rate of Russian submarine building.

The Army chief of staff would like a force half again as big as now authorized.

Highlights

These are highlights from a 1,200-page volume of testimony by military men, discussing with the House Appropriations Committee the 35-billion-dollar defense budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The committee today made public that part of their testimony which was not censored for security reasons.

Earlier today, Johnson himself said the issue for Texas Democrats is whether their delegation will support the convention nominee or whether they will choose one that will "attempt to lead Democrats into the Republican party."

"The people of Texas have known me a long time, and I do not think a majority of them will be pleased with personal attacks upon me."

Several Hurt In Ship Blast

BAVETOWN, Tex., March 29 (AP)—An oil tanker blew up tonight on the industry-loaded Houston ship channel and an Humble Oil and Refining Co. spokesman said "three or four" persons required hospitalization.

The explosion caused near-panic in this explosion—potent oil and chemical city—only 20 miles from Texas City, where a ship explosion took at least 510 lives in 1947.

Retires From ICC

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today announced the retirement, effective March 31, of Floyd W. Howard, 61, district supervisor for multi-carriers at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Car, Truck Collide On Route 611

ABOUT $400 DAMAGE was caused yesterday afternoon when a car crashed into the side of a tractor-trailer at the intersection of Ninth and Sarah Sts., in Stroudsburg. Neither driver was hurt.

Borough Police said a car operated by Fred E. Hill, 77, Tannersville, crashed into a coal truck driven by Edward C. Haduck, 32, of Avoca, and owned by Michael Fisk of Moscow, RD 3.

Traveling South

Hill told police he was traveling south on Ninth St. Not seeing anything coming in the opposite direction, he began to make a left turn into Sarah St.

However, the truck driver, traveling at about 10 miles an hour north on Route 611, tried to apply his brakes when he saw the car, but was unable to avoid collision.

Police said both skidded on the wet surface and ended up near the ramp of the Stroudsburg Garage, about 15 feet from the point of impact.

Schools Open On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 29 (AP)—A British soldier was injured slightly today by two bombs hurled at his vehicle but, in general, calm prevailed on this rebellious island.

Schools were reopening slowly after being closed by British order.

British troops still searched methodically for hidden weapons and were turning up small caches of explosives. One arrest was made.

However, the island was showing signs of normalcy for the first time since the banishment March 9 of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the movement for union with Greece.

There were reports that the British might clamp a curfew on Cyprus Easter Sunday.

April 1 in any case will be an uneasy anniversary. On that day a year ago the Eoka underground organization loosed its bloody campaign in support of union with Greece.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 29 (AP)—Alvin Slosark, 12, of Salisbury RD 2 was fatally injured today when he was struck by an auto while riding a bicycle on Route 80, two miles from Salisbury.

Ayres Requests Scandal Figure Be Replaced

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) told the House today he doesn't think John Maragon has any right to be on the public payroll.

Maragon, a onetime Kansas City bootblack who hung around the White House during the Truman administration, served a prison sentence for perjury after a congressional investigation five years ago. He was convicted of lying under oath about alleged influence peddling.

Temporary

Yesterday it was disclosed that Maragon, now 64, has been given a temporary job as a clerical laborer in the House folding room. He earns $1.61 an hour in part-time work.

Ayres said he did not believe the congressional payroll "should become a haven for former government employees who have been convicted of betraying their trust." Maragon once went to Greece on a State Department mission.

Committee Approves Wheat Plan

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Amid hot controversy, a Senate-House Conference labored anew on the big farm bill tonight, after dealing the administration a blow by approving a two-price plan for wheat, effective in 1957.

Still a third price—90 per cent of parity—would be effective this year if the bill goes through. This also is strongly opposed by the Eisenhower administration, which wants to continue its flexible support program.

Two-Price

The two-price plan for 1957 provides that if two-thirds of the commercial wheat producers approve in a referendum, all wheat produced for human consumption in this country would fetch a guaranteed price of 100 per cent of parity. The balance would be allowed to seek its own level in export and other markets. About half of the wheat crop is used for food.

Both the two-price plan and the 90 per cent plan would mean more money for the wheat growers, whose crop is now supported at 76 per cent of parity.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) announced that the committee's formula is "unacceptable to me and the administration." Aiken is a member of the committee and has often spoken for the Eisenhower administration in the struggle over the farm bill.

Compromise

The wheat compromise was reported by Sen. Ellender (D-La.), leader of the Senate conferees, who also said it now looks as if the committee won't complete its work on the farm bill "until some time next week." Other sources said the revision might not be ready until after Congress comes back April 9 from its Easter recess, which started today.

Meeting behind closed doors, the committee is attempting to iron out wide differences between Senate and House versions of the legislation.

Senate Adopts Resolution For Contempt

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—The Senate adopted a resolution today asking that the Justice Department bring contempt of Congress proceedings against Harvey Matusow, self-described former Communist and liar.

The action was taken by voice vote and without objection.

The resolution, pending on the Senate calendar since last July 12, was submitted by the Senate after Matusow refused to answer some questions asked him at public hearings more than a year ago.

Penalty

Conviction for contempt carries a penalty up to a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment, or both.

Matusow was called before the subcommittee after he recanted sworn testimony he had given about alleged Reds before conferees and in federal court trials.

The turnabout witness said he had falsely branded hundreds of persons as Communists or Communist sympathizers.

The subcommittee charged in a report last December that Matusow lied when he recanted his earlier testimony and that he had been paid to do so by a Communist "brain trust."

While Matusow testified volubly at the subcommittee hearings last year, he refused to answer a few questions and invoked the Fifth Amendment.

Holy Week

THE CRUCIFIXION—With the thieves on either side of Him, Jesus was crucified on Calvary. "Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted His raiment, and cast lots." As Jesus hung dying on the cross, darkness descended upon the land from the sixth hour to the ninth hour, when He cried, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" An onlooker extended to Him a vinegar-soaked sponge, but "Jesus, when He had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost." As He died, the veil of the temple was torn in two, the earth shook and rocks were split. "Now when the centurion, and they that were with him, watching Jesus, saw the earthquake, and those things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God."

Stock Market Races To Near Record

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP)—The stock market raced ahead today to within a shade of a new record high mark.

The strong drive on a broad front included the railroads, oils, steels, chemicals and non-ferrous metals.

The rise carried prices up one to three points frequently and much higher in some instances.

The market was hit hard by late profit-taking before the three-day recess for Easter. Some losses went to around two points. Air-sensational performer up 3/4 at crafts and motors sagged.

Pennsylvania Railroad was a 27 1/2. It was the day's most active issue with 275,000 shares traded.

Brokers said the sudden and widespread demand followed recommendation by a large brokerage house on Wall Street.

Average

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 70 cents at $190.40. The record high of $190.50 was reached last Friday. The railroad component of the average, with the aid of Pennsylvania, gained $1.20 at a new high of $147.10. Industrials gained 90 cents while utilities lost 10 cents.

The market started higher and kept right on going up until the final hour. Selling then reduced gains or produced minus signs in the steels and coppers. Aircrafts, which were mixed to lower all day were pushed definitely lower. The motors suffered, too. Chrysler, up around a point as it recalled workers in two plants, closed off 3/4 at 75 1/2. Ford hit a new low off one at 59 1/2.

Volume was the second highest total of the year 3,480,000 shares. That compared with 2,610,000 shares traded yesterday when the market was slightly higher.

The American Stock Exchange was generally higher on volume of 1,600,000 shares as compared with 1,470,000 shares yesterday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. government issues over the counter were lower.

Indications Of Unrest Inside Russia Might Prove To Be Wishful Thinking

On most occasions when there are rumblings of discontent in Soviet Russia, the free world is quick to seize upon the events as good news.

Those nations outside the Communist orbit all too frequently have been misled into believing that the masses inside Russia are ripe for rebellion or that the Soviet leaders are abandoning their basic goal for conquering the world.

But despite the smiles that at times replace the threats and the "peace overtures" that turn out to be booby-traps, Russia's objectives remain unchanged. Only the tactics are different.

Recent dispatches coming out of the Soviet Union that hint of discontent should be taken with the same grain of salt that should have been applied to previous reports of unrest behind the Iron Curtain.

Nikita Khrushchev's outburst branding Josef Stalin a murderer and a maniac, failure of a Communist organizer to instill Communist into students at a college in Stalin's old province of Georgia and stories of anti-Red rioting in Georgia could easily add up to trouble for the Communist leaders of Russia.

It could show that Bulganin, Khrushchev and Co. have failed to sell Communism to the Russian people, either by force or persuasion. But for the free world to lower its guard would be a grave error. We must not be lured into any more of the traps that have made the USSR a symbol of deceit dating back to World War Two days and before.

The free nations will always go half way in trying to effect a workable plan for living at peace with the Communists. And we should support those people within Russia who are trying to free themselves from the yoke of Communist tyranny. But until such time as we can be absolutely sure of success in our endeavors, we should remain extremely suspicious of any and all "good news" that comes out of Russia, Red China and other Communist countries.

Allocation Of Needed Equipment Adds Strength To Pocono CAP Unit

News that equipment worth an estimated $25,000 will be assigned to the Civil Air Patrol in this area is welcomed by not only the CAP but by everyone who is familiar with what the organization has accomplished.

One need only to harken back to the August flood to recall the great service performed by the group. But rescue work is only one phase of the CAP program.

Group 1400, the local unit, is geared to function in any emergency, and often does. CAP planes play a dominant role in searching woodlands for missing aircraft when one is overdue, spot forest fires and lead firefighters to the scene, assist boat crews in search for drowning victims, and handle many other chores where the use of an airplane is required.

The local group is one of only three in the nation to have its own permanently attached medical squadron. It was organized speci-cally with aircraft rescue in mind, and is being followed as a model by other groups.

Included in the equipment to be sent here will be three trucks, one or more L-17 aircraft for patrol, rescue and reconnaissance, tents for use by the medical squadron, six generators and miscellaneous medical supplies. One of the trucks will be sent to Milford, another assigned to the medical squadron and the third retained here as a spotter unit.

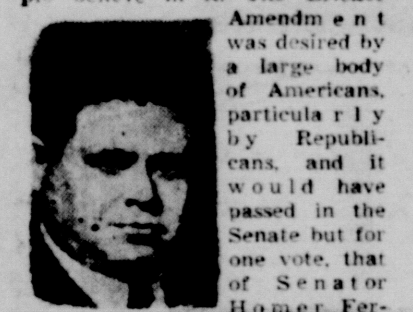

The planes on loan from the Air Force, are identical with aircraft previously used by the CAP. All of the equipment is part of an allocation of surplus and stockpiled materials.

The equipment is urgently needed by the rapidly expanding Pocono group. It will give this valuable CAP unit added strength and provide a broader base on which to operate. May it continue to grow and serve this community.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Dirken's Revision Of Bricker Amendment Seen As Necessary Restraint On Presidents

It is impossible to kill an issue in a free society if enough people believe in it. The Bricker Amendment was designed by a large body of Americans, particularly by Republicans, and it would have passed in the Senate but for one vote, that of Senator Homer Ferguson, who had favored the Bricker Amendment but voted against it to please the White House. He was thereupon defeated in the next election in his home state and was appointed not to the Supreme Court, as he and his friends expected he would be, but to an ambassadorship to the Philippine Islands which is about as unsatisfactory a post as an ungrateful government could give to one who served it.

Now the Bricker Amendment has come up in a revised form, the revision being made by Senator Dirken of Illinois who is very good at compromises. His revision is apparently satisfactory to Senator Bricker, a tough the White House has not yet approved of it, such approval not being necessary in advance of a Congressional action. The new version of the amendment reads:

"A provision of a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with any provision of the Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

That is simple enough and ought to throw all sorts of Executive Agreements into the Supreme Court for decision, but as Senator Jenner said:

"I don't think this amendment, or any amendment, can bar mistakes in judgment in foreign policy by either the President or the Senate. Recognition of Soviet Russia by President Roosevelt was put through as an executive agreement, during a recess of Congress, but the Senate could have challenged this action in the following session."

This the Senate did not do although the recognition was effected by nothing more than an exchange of letters with Maxim Litvinov.

Everything depends upon how rigidly a President adheres to the Constitution. Some Presidents have expanded Executive power; some have recognized every constitutional limitation upon Executive power. Often, most often, it is impossible to undo by Congressional decision an action taken by the Executive unconstitutionally because an historical chain of events, once initiated, moves at a terrific pace. For instance, it can be argued with whatever vehemence that Franklin D. Roosevelt committed his country to outrageous conduct at Teheran and Yalta, but no anger will return to the Polish people, to take two examples, their independence, or to the people of Latvia or Lithuania, their country.

The value of this amendment to the Constitution is that it does not make outrageous, immoral or insane conduct binding upon the United States and it will caution other nations from entering upon agreements with American Executives without a full investigation into the constitutionality of the agreement. Also, the peril of having a court action develop out of an Executive Agreement would be before officials constantly.

For instance, under this amendment, it would be impossible for the United Nations, in the guise of defending human rights, to abolish freedom of the press by making it unlawful to tell the truth about the ruler of a foreign country, such things, for example, as Khrushchev now says about Stalin and which some of us have been telling our readers for 20 years. Or, it would be impossible, under such an amendment, for the United Nations, under the guise of a Genocide Agreement, to instruct American citizens in Alabama or Virginia how to live. The Genocide Agreement would make it possible for Soviet Russia, which tolerates slave labor, to introduce a resolution for an investigation of the city of Montgomery, Alabama, where there is no slave labor but where there is a racial boycott. Under the Bricker Amendment, in the old form or the new, Montgomery could tell the United Nations that what our Federal government cannot do under the Constitution, the United Nations cannot do because of our Constitution.

We need some kind of clarification of Presidential powers because Presidents have evaded the constitutional interdict that treaties must be ratified by the Senate. When the Yalta papers were partially published, enough information came to hand to be convincing that Franklin D. Roosevelt exceeded his authority, and if he could do that any President can do it, to the detriment of the country. Therefore an amendment to the Constitution is needed and the Dirken revision of the Bricker Amendment seems to fill the bill.

A Chicago home institute head says that TV is now a top cause of broken homes and divorces.

We agree. Incompatibility in the TV room and in the living room is a terrible cruelty in the choice of programs will soon be common grounds for separations. Husbands and wives who have lived happily for years are now in nonstop fights nightly over what show to watch.

In the past a wife had to show some admiration for her mate, ugly or not, but now she can spend hours with Perry Como, Frankie Sinatra, Eddie Fisher, Rock Hudson, Ray Middleton or Joseph Cotten without leaving the house. A husband knows no more withering look than the one he gets from the Missus when he gazes at a TV screen and asks, "What's so attractive about that guy?" How can a couple get along if he wants Red Skelton or Jackie and she demands Tony Martin or Maurice Evans? Suppose he wants to follow the ball game and she is all cuddled up with a cooking hour. We can fancy the modern divorce hearing:

Judge. — Mrs. Spelvin, why do you want to shed this guy after twenty years?

Wife. — We don't get along any more except when our outdoor aerial blows down.

Judge. — Don't you realize life is a matter of give and take?

Wife. — Yes, but he gives me "Ramar of the Jungle" when I want Libera.

Judge. — Can't you both be reasonable?

Wife. — With eleven stations on the air it ain't easy.

Judge. — Is your husband cruel to you?

Wife. — Well, I was in the middle of a Libera hour the other evening and he switched to a weather forecast! And once when I was deep in "I Love Lucy" he tuned into a hockey game.

Judge. — Didn't you promise to love, honor and split TV tastes?

Wife. — That's HIS story. Didn't the big bum take me for better or worse?

Judge. — I presume so.

Wife. — Then even if I am listening to the WORST program what right has he to tell me I should get something better?

Judge. — (To husband). — Mr. Spelvin, what have you to say that could solve this situation?

Husband. — I haven't been following this hearing?

Judge. — Why not?

Husband. — I thought as soon as I did she'd find some way to tune me out!

Ike Delegates Power To Use Atomic Cannon In War Zones

Washington, March 30 — Congressional leaders are checking on inside information that President Eisenhower has taken extraordinary military measures regarding the war in perilous areas.

He is credited with delegating authority to American commanders to do the following:

Use tactical atomic weapons, under certain circumstances. Best known of these weapons are atomic cannon, which are now with Army forces in the Far East and Europe.

Retaliate against Red Chinese air and naval attacks if they are deemed a menace to Formosa. On March 14, this column disclosed that all U. S. Navy, Air and Army forces in the Formosa area have been put under Admiral Stuart Ingersoll, commander of the Seventh Fleet, and that he has also been made chief adviser to the Nationalists on "military policy and operations."

These unannounced congressional inquiries are being made by the powerful House Appropriations Committee and the Foreign Affairs Committee, which is considering the President's embattled $1,900,000,000 foreign aid budget.

The two committees are interrogating Pentagon and other authorities on the basis of private reports from military and diplomatic sources.

Among those being questioned are Defense Secretary Wilson and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. State Department officials also are slated to be asked about these reputed far-reaching delegations of presidential authority.

So far the committees have been able to get few details about the matter.

Every military leader has explained he can't discuss it, and has referred the lawmakers to the White House.

On The Spot — The House Appropriations Committee, at one closed-door session, did obtain a strong indication that important powers have been delegated to military commanders.

Rep. Daniel Flood (D., Pa.) brought this out during a discussion with General Maxwell Taylor on his request for an additional $300,000,000 for special equipment to fight "small" wars.

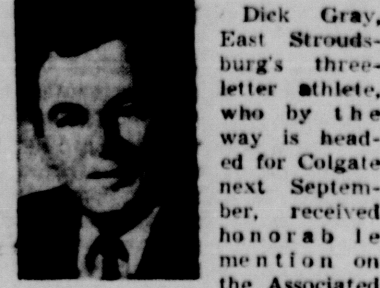

The Army Chief of Staff, under Flood's grilling, hinted that certain presidential authority has been delegated to field commanders, but went no further than that. Taylor held that only the White House could talk about this. Following are highlights from the significant discussion:

This is only one of many tributes the East Stroudsburg High football, basketball and baseball star has received during the past two years.

It is this reporter's opinion that Dick would have gained an even higher spot on the all-state selections if he had been witnessed in action by more newspapermen and if he had been a member of a squad representing a larger school.

Not only is Gray a truly fine athlete, but he's a good student and a great kid. Nobody will ever forget his exploits on the basketball court last season, his quarterbacking on the football team or the home run which he rapped to win the District 11 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association title last June.

Special congratulations are also in order for The Daily Record's own Leonard Randolph, who became the father of a second daughter at 3:20 a.m. on Wednesday at the Monroe County General Hospital. Mother, the former Gloria Shafer, and new daughter are doing fine. Pop also made the grade.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Headliners

Among the fiery bursts of stardust, the swaying chain of movie queens and the shimmer of a bib - and - tucker event, Ernest Borgnine added a down-to-earth touch to the Academy Award festivities.

The Oscar - winner earnestly expressed his gratitude "to my mother for giving me the idea of going into this wonderful business, my pop for being steadfast and my lovely wife for helping me." The statement, appropriately enough, has a Marty-like warm simplicity . . . His mother had a decisive influence on Borgnine's career. After being discharged from the Navy, he hoped to enter the frozen food or air-conditioning business. Appraised of her son's conflicting ambitions, his mother chuckled: "Ernie, did you ever think of taking up acting? You always enjoyed making a damn fool of yourself." Ernest responded: "Mom, you've got something there," and enrolled in a drama school. The rest, as the saying goes, is happy history.

Is there a connection between Hitler and the melodious delight of a Broadway hit? Is there a link between the terrible fury of exploding bombs and the lilting talent of a lovely nightingale? The swirl of human destinies has strange origins, folks . . . When the Luftwaffe was putting the torch to London, a group in an air-raid shelter sought to retain their morale by group singing. The singers were joined by an 8-year-old. Her voice emerged clear and beautiful. At that moment, her mother discovered her offspring's talent. And soon after, she was given voice lessons . . . Today, Julie Andrews is enchanting One and All in the de luxe click, "My Fair Lady."

Anna Magnani is all fire and fervor. Her acting gives off sparks. She is a genuine, dedicated artist. Anna has stated: "The only thing that means anything for me is art in any form, any kind. For me it is acting. I live for this. I don't think a person can be a great actor if he is an incomplete individual. He must be a strong, powerful person." . . . Signora Magnani's strength is derived from her devotion to her polio-crippled son. And the intense hope that he will walk again. "You ask me," Magnani adds, "if art is important. I say, yes. More than anything in life, except I'd give it all up if my son could have his legs again like I made them for him."

In other words, Anna Magnani's greatest performance is represented by being a mother, which is woman's most important role.

The public image of Tallulah Bankhead is shaped in the form of a rocket. Nevertheless, the rocket that has brightened skies over Broadway, Hollywood and London—does not always burn furiously. There is a quiet, candlelight quality to Miss Bankhead that the public rarely encounters: Before the star makes her first entrance on opening night, she kneels beside the photographs of her mother and father in her dressing room. She crosses her heart and prays: "Dear God, please don't let me make a fool of myself tonight."

Automobile Strikes Truck

MOUNT POCONO — A 1952 sedan crashed into the rear of a highway department cinder truck on Route 611, about seven miles north of here at 3:45 p. m. yesterday.

State Police said Donato Mecca Jr., 22, of Dunmore, tried to slow down when he suddenly came upon the truck, operated by George Leonard, 24, of Tobyhanna. However, the car skidded into the spreader. There were no injuries, but about $200 damage was caused to the car, State Police said.

Playground Work Session Postponed

A WORK session scheduled for today at East Stroudsburg playground has been postponed due to bad weather conditions.

According to coordinators planning the rehabilitation effort, the playground area is too wet to allow use of heavy equipment needed. For this reason no more work sessions will be held for two weeks.

Mother Finds Children Dead

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 29 (AP)—A mother who slept late because of illness found her two small children dead of asphyxiation today in an unused refrigerator. Apparently they entered in play and could not open the door from the inside.

The victims were Sharon, 8, and Raymond, 6, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heeb.

Cinder Trucks On Duty

HIGHWAY department cinder trucks were on duty throughout the Pocono Mountains last night, as cold weather and a combination of rain and snow made area highways slippery.

Civil Air Patrol Medical Unit Formed

A CIVIL AIR Patrol medical unit, headed by Capt. Floyd W. Shafer, has been officially activated in Stroudsburg.

Known as Squadron 1402 the new unit is part of Group 1400 and presently is composed of four doctors, a dentist, 11 nurses and several technicians, Dr. Shafer explained.

The group was organized after its need became evident during last summer's disaster. Dr. Shafer said. Members attend two meetings each month and discuss such topics as the effects of an atomic bomb blast and other emergency situations.

Equipment
Personnel of the unit have purchased considerable equipment and two vehicles have been put at their disposal. Capt. Shafer noted that the CAP has assured that the unit will have access to any equipment needed in discharging its duties. Primary job of the unit will be to give medical aid when airplane disasters occur, Dr. Shafer said further.

Dr. Shafer added that the unit still is interested in obtaining new members. However, it is trying to limit membership to trained personnel, such as doctors, dentists, nurses and technicians.

Physicians, in addition to Dr. Shafer, now engaged in the program are Drs. Marshall Metzgar, Elmer Brumbaugh and Frank Uddell.

Teacher Denies Report

BEDFORD, Pa., March 29 (AP)—Luther Rahauser, original sponsor of the state plowing contest, today denied that transfer of the event to University Park this year was in line with his desire.

Rahauser, vocational agriculture supervisor at Replough High School in Morrison Cove, made the denial in reply to a statement by Leland Bull, deputy secretary of agriculture, in announcing the move yesterday.

Reply
"This (the transfer) is in line with the desire of the original sponsor that the contest be rotated to different sections of the state, each section being given opportunity to request it in advance."

Rahauser said he is in favor of rotating the contest to the home county of the previous year's winner.

Bangor Man Jailed On Hit-Run Charge

BANGOR — A 32-year-old Bangor man yesterday was committed to the jail here in default of $360 bail which was set after he appeared before Justice of the Peace Raymond A. Traves on a hit-run charge.

The complaint was lodged against Paul H. McKenroe after his car allegedly sideswiped the newly-purchased auto of John H. Smith, III, of Pen Argyl, at 12:30 a.m. yesterday on Pennsylvania Ave. in Pen Argyl.

Smith, the son of Pen Argyl Police Chief Henry Smith, was accompanied by John Pezzuto, also of Pen Argyl, when the crash occurred. Both are students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Drives Away
Smith told authorities he and Pezzuto halted McKenroe, but that the latter allegedly drove away when told they should all wait until the night patrolman arrived. Smith and Pezzuto chased McKenroe to Bangor, where the latter's auto crashed into a fence after failing to make a turn into an alley from Market St., between Seventh and Eighth.

McKenroe was then taken by Smith and Pezzuto to Bangor Patrolman Edgar Dietz, who made the arrest.

PORTLAND — Annual band concert by the East Stroudsburg High School band will be held on April 11 in the Portland school gym. This is under the auspices of the Band Parents Association. Proceeds will go to the Portland school band. Tickets may be purchased from any of the school pupils.

Figures
A total of 2,566,312 license plates had been issued through Tuesday, as compared to 2,422,112 for the same date in 1955. This is an increase of 144,200 tags.

Charles M. Dougherty also said that last-minute renewal applications sent through the mail are being processed and mailed the same day they are received. He also pointed out that the tags are sent by fourth-class mail, and anyone who has not yet received his tag should first check the local post-office to see if the plate is there and secondly to check the bank to see if the purchaser's check has been cashed.

There are scattered cases where applicants have not received their new registration tags because they failed to notify the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of a change of address; failed to notify the Bureau of change of name; failed to sign the check for payment of the tag, or failed to complete the application properly. These and other errors by applicants are being handled by first class mail, and in many instances special delivery mail, to insure delivery of the maximum number of any registration tags that may have been delayed for these reasons.

It is expected that the total number of plates issued for the 1956 passenger registration year will ultimately run to nearly 3,300,000.

County Superintendent Sets Pre-School Enrollment Dates

PRE-SCHOOL ENROLLMENT of children who will be five years, seven months old before Sept. 1, 1956, will be carried out during April and May in Monroe County schools.

This enrollment program is a highly important measuring stick for school boards and administrative officials in public schools. It is the one guidepost officials have to the current trend in child population in their districts.

Yesterday John C. Litts, Monroe County superintendent of schools, released a schedule showing dates on which school districts will conduct their pre-school census. The schedule follows:

Plans
Barrett and Paradise townships April 30 and May 1 at the Barrett Township School in Cresco, Chestnut Hill Township on April 20, Coolbaugh Township on May 3, Eldred Township on April 2.

Hamilton and Ross Townships on April 5 at the Hamilton Township School near Sciota, Jackson Township on May 4, Mount Pocono Township on April 6, Pocono Township on April 19.

Polk Township on April 18, Tobyhanna and Tunkhannock Townships on May 5 at the Tobyhanna Township School in Pocono Pines.

Parents are asked to bring birth and vaccination certificates to the pre-school clinic so that permanent records can be completed on the dates specified.

About 60 per cent of Americans are home owners compared to 40 per cent 15 years ago.

Dreher Twp. Drive Shows Increase

NEWFOUNDLAND—The Red Cross drive in Dreher Township has resulted in a 50 percent increase in contributions over a similar campaign last year, it has been learned here.

George Casparian, Wayne County Red Cross director, announced in Honesdale recently that the flood-stricken southern Wayne County area has already responded to a degree one-and-one-half times that of last year's figures, pointing out that returns were not yet complete.

Typical Response—The director stated that the local response is typical of most disaster areas, which, according to the National Red Cross, usually show increases in donations to the organization following an emergency in which the Red Cross functioned.

Donations are still being accepted, Casparian said. Anyone overlooked in the recent drive may send contributions to the Wayne County office or contact any of the local Red Cross workers, he added.

Assisting Mrs. Frank Uridel locally were Mrs. Lewis Eggert, Mrs. Carlyle Schmalze, Mrs. Robert Burdick, Mrs. John Tobey, Mrs. Harry Cron, Mrs. Bennett Gilpin, Mrs. Walter Steiger, Mrs. Norris Scott, Mrs. Glenn Stevens, Miss Adelaide Wolfe and Mrs. Melvin Manhart.

'Newness' Theme Of Easter Season

By George W. Cornell
AP Religion Reporter

"NEWNESS" is the theme across the land this weekend.

This goes for young and old, for sophisticates and farmers, for the faithful and the frivolous.

But what's new?
It's a new Easter and a new spring and new stirrings in the earth and air.

"The very word Easter has to do with newness — with new life," said the Rev. Philip S. Watters of New York's Washington Square Methodist Church.

The idea speaks in many languages.

New Hats

It's in the glow of new hats and new necks, and the new styles parading up the avenues.

It's in the rustle of new crowds, thronging the churches on Sunday morning.

It's in the laughter of children on Easter egg hunts.

It's in the new Christian believers, many of whom are baptized at this time into the "new covenant" offered by Christ.

It's in the new day dawning on some mountain amphitheater, filled with pageantry and praise at the "good news" of Christ's resurrection.

It's in the new green grass, and the new flowers and the bird's new song of spring, but most of all, the newness of Easter is in Christ's rebirth — His victory over death — to seal the New Testament promise.

"If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

Over the centuries, the celebration has taken on many adjuncts not directly related to Christianity. "This is not strange nor is it frowned upon by Christian leaders," said a spokesman for the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

"Spring was always a season of new life and new hope and so it was fitting that traditions connected with new life and new hope should be adapted to the day of resurrection, the day of Christian new life and new hope."

Extra Features

The extra features can enhance the glad spirit of the occasion, said the Rev. Mr. Watters, "so long as people don't make these things the whole of it," and neglect the basic purpose.

Many of the day's customs originated in pagan cultures, as part of the festivities welcoming the return of spring.

The name "Easter" itself was taken from a mythical Teutonic goddess of spring, Eostre—whose ancient Anglo-Saxon rites coincided with the celebration of Christ's resurrection.

The egg too was a pagan symbol of spring and fertility long before the coming of Christ. It became a Christian symbol early in church history — to indicate that Christ, like the new life that breaks from the shell of an egg, broke from the tomb into new life.

Coloring of eggs — most always red at first to suggest Christ's blood "shed for many for the remissions of sin" — grew into the present day decorative profusion to show the joy and beauty of the Resurrection.

The Easter bunny became a part of Easter in more recent centuries. Rabbits also had pagan associations with springtime and birth.

Movement Of Jerusalem Through History Casts Doubt In Minds Of Holy Land Pilgrims

By Wilson Wynn

JORDAN, March 29 (AP) — The heavy wooden doors of Jerusalem's Damascus Gate creak as they swing shut. A spike-helmeted Arab Legion policeman tries the door from the inside, and then walks away in the semidarkness of the Old City. His heavy boots ring against the flagstones of the street and echo through stone arches and vaulted roofs. Otherwise, the city is still.

Each evening the closing of Damascus Gate brings to an end another day of hustle and bustle as swarms of pilgrims from the countryside move in and out the gate to buy and sell. But after the gate is closed, only a few Arab Legion sentries moving furtively back and forth across the top of the wall indicate there is any life left in a city which still seems to belong to ages past.

From the wall Arab soldiers in flowing headdress look across a few yards of no man's land into the muzzles of enemy guns. Israeli troops who now occupy the western sector of modern Jerusalem. For the Arab Legion, Jerusalem's ancient battlefields form a vital defense point for a war that threatens to erupt again at any time.

Old Stones

Some of the stones in this old wall are as old as Jerusalem itself, but the main lines of the structure have been changed many times. The changes have led to endless disputes about the city's history. One of the chief points is the doubt cast on the site of Christ's crucifixion and burial by the present location of the wall.

The first sight of the traditional Calvary and Holy Sepulchre often causes bitter disappointment to the pilgrim with a knowledge of the bible. He expects to see Calvary as a hill outside the wall and not far from it a rock-hewn tomb where Christ was buried.

To the contrary, he can reach these sites only by entering the walled city and walking through the most congested sector to a church. To see the traditional Calvary, he must enter the church and climb to a flight of stone steps to a mosaic chapel on the upper level. Here beneath a gilded icon of Mary and an altar covered with candles and offerings, he can see a bit of rock beneath a glass case. This is all he will see of the "hill" where Christ was crucified.

Glittering Lamps

To see the Holy Sepulchre, he must go back down the steps to an ornate little chapel with two massive candlesticks on either side of the entrance. Inside, he sees a marble slab overhung with glittering lamps. A bit of rock underneath an icon is all that remains of the tomb where Christ was buried.

All this is so unlike the Biblical picture as to cast doubt in the mind of many visitors. But a closer look shows that from a historical point of view these sites meet the demands of tests of authenticity.

These two sites today are inside the wall, because the city has moved northward and westward since the time of Christ. But when Christ was crucified, Calvary was just outside one of the city gates.

The wall around the city in Christ's time was that generally called the "second wall" although Jerusalem's wall probably had been built time and again in its history.

A visit to excavations in Russian Alexander Hospice inside the Old City helps the visitor understand the relation of the wall to Calvary as it stood at the time of Christ's crucifixion. Inside the Russian church, several feet below the level of the present-day street, can be seen remains of a Jewish-type gate in an ancient Semite wall. Referred to be some as "The Gate of Judgment", this gate is only 500-feet from the traditional site of Calvary. Marks on two stone slabs on the threshold show where the gate originally locked when closed at night, just as Damascus Gate is closed at night now.

Although the matter is disputed among historians, the location makes it easy to assume that this was the gate through which Jesus was led as he neared the end of the way to the cross.

Automatic Post Offices Next On List

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP) — This country is tremendously gadget conscious, eager to try out each new thing that comes along.

Except, John T. Benjamin Jr., said today, in the field of government.

Benjamin is a vice president of the International Trading Corp., a part of International Telephone & Telegraph. And he has been in town trying to peddle automatic post offices and electric voting machines.

"Nothing revolutionary about this at all," Benjamin said. "Automatic mail sorting machines are being used in Belgium and Israel, and we're building a completely automatic post office in Germany."

Dusts Mail

"This one appears to be taking care of everything. You know how mail is often dusty? Well, here it will be dusted automatically."

The mail sorting machine really is simple. Instead of a clerk poking each piece of mail into its proper slot, he punches a button, and the machine, using the same principles as in a telephone exchange, does the rest.

Speeds up the operation tremendously, Benjamin says, and saves a lot of wear and tear on the post office help.

"We brag about being so mechanistically inclined," Benjamin said, "but look at that mail box outside the post office. Every few hours a postman comes around to pick the mail up. Why not whiz it right in automatically? That's what will happen in the German post office."

Voting machines already are used in about half the state legislatures. And, after a mixup in a vote on the farm bill, Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore) suggested that the U.S. Senate should put them in, too.

Benjamin thinks the Belgium Senate offers an interesting view of the possibilities. Each senator there has three buttons he can push, to say whether he's for or against or wishes to abstain from voting on this bill.

But their problem is complicated because two languages are used, French and Flemish, and because the ministers switch desks, and may be either up at the front or back at their seats.

Still, the problems were licked. It once took 20 minutes to vote. Now the job is done in three, with a photographic copy of the result.

Here Benjamin whipped out the photograph of what happened in the Belgium Senate to bill No. 445. It showed how each senator voted, and then gave the totals: 65 said ja or oui, 56 said neen or non, 53 wished to withhold and one senator was a tie.

A postman came to empty the mailbox across the street. Benjamin looked gloomy.

"I've been up at the Capitol, looking things over," he said. "All you see in the papers is talk about automation. Boy, here's one place that could use a little."

Common Stock Earnings Of PP&L Up

EARNINGS accruing to the common stock of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company for the 12 months ended February 29 were $18,634,048, equivalent to $3.15 per share of common stock outstanding at such date, as compared with $17,472,613 or $2.96 per share for the 12 months ended February 28, 1955.

Earnings for both periods include earnings of former subsidiary, The Scranton Electric Company, (merged January 31, 1956) and restated earnings of the former Pennsylvania Water & Power Company (merged June 1, 1955) for applicable periods prior to merger.

Revenues for the 12 months ended February 29 on the same basis were $124,158,227, an increase of 8.1 per cent over comparable revenues for the previous year.

Pennsylvania policyholders of Mutual of New York are expected to benefit from a series of liberalizations the company has made in new policies and in many existing contracts. The changes include extension of the waiver of premium coverage beyond age 60 on a limited basis; partial return of premium in the year of death; and an additional indemnity for certain accidental deaths on public conveyances.

Details of the liberalizations were discussed here today at a business conference between MONY officials and top-ranking field representatives including Stanley J. Van Vleet of Buck Hill Falls.

More than $1,500,000 worth of tools, equipment, parts and accessories for use by service station operators, car dealers, repair shops, and operators of truck and bus fleets will be displayed at the Middle Atlantic Regional Automotive Show at the Commercial Museum in Philadelphia, April 11 through 14.

More than 300 manufacturers and jobbers will exhibit at the four-day show, which is expected to attract more than 20,000. Michael Shapiro, president of MARA and head of Motor Masters, Philadelphia, said.

The show is sponsored by over 200 regional wholesalers from the four-state area of eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. A kick-off dinner at Convention Hall will be held Tuesday, April 10.

The show will run from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. each of the show days, with mornings free for wholesalers to conduct sales clinics. Nearly 1,000 factory-trained men will be on hand to demonstrate the equipment, ranging from the smallest jack to the largest grease rack. Edward R. Lawson, Stroudsburg, is one of the sponsors of MARA in eastern Pennsylvania.

Eso Touring Service "White Car" driven by John Bohn of the New York office of Eso Touring Service is now in this area helping Eso Dealers make better use of their Eso road maps and touring service.

Purpose of the visit is to help the Eso dealers render a public service to this community by providing better travel information both to residents and tourists.

Mr. Bohn said that part of the presentation to the dealers is devoted to the importance of being informed regarding local points of interest, nearby hotels, motels and restaurants and special events in the vicinity.

Eso dealers invite all motorists to come in and take advantage of this free travel service.

Regional educational conference, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Realtors Association, will be held Friday, April 6, in the Altamont Hotel, Hazleton, at which some 200 realtors, including representatives from the local area, are expected to attend.

Representatives and program participants will be present from the Association's District one which includes Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Hazleton, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, and Monroe County.

Ted Lewis, Easton, the Association's Vice President of District one and Senior Vice President of the Pennsylvania Association, will be in charge of the opening session at 10 a.m. A full day's program of speeches and panel discussions will be held with two of the feature addresses to be made by Richard W. Fechtenburg, Edgington, the Pennsylvania Association's President, and Milton M. Strouse, Harrisburg, the Association's Executive Vice President.

They will use the themes "Why Your State Association?" and "The Harrisburg Scene," respectively.

Representatives of all boards in the district will participate on the program with the greeting to be extended by Ellsworth W. Miller, President, Hazleton Real Estate Board, and the address of welcome by S. Thomas Capparel, Mayor of Hazleton.

Polish Communist Newspaper Blasts Anti-Stalin Drive

VIENNA, Austria, March 29 (P) — In the sharpest anti-Stalin criticism yet published in a Soviet satellite country, the newspaper of the Polish Communist party today condemned the late Soviet dictator as a mentally sick man who employed slander as a weapon of murder.

Query Marks Government Raid On Reds

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

The government tax crackdown on the Communists and their mouthpiece, the Daily Worker, comes at a time when the party is trying to emerge from underground and is torn internally by Moscow's new anti-Stalin line.

One of the big questions is whether the party is going to get more good than harm out of the Treasury Department action in padlocking its offices.

Its leaders have been quick to reach for the role of martyrdom and the cloak of freedom of the press.

A court battle looms. The T-men appear to be technically correct in their action, though its method is hardly as routine as they maintain.

There is always something unsavory and unsatisfying about the use of the tax laws to reach malefactors who cannot be reached otherwise. The revenue people say this is not such an action, but merely a tax matter.

Circumstances
The circumstances, however, suggest discrimination, in that property was seized before an actual bill for taxes was presented, although the Reds had not filled out information forms presented to them.

However all that may turn out, and however correct the T-men may have been, there is a question as to the political wisdom of the act at this time. You can bet that's why Washington officials became so interested on learning what the New York director had done.

The Communist party in the United States has been trying to adjust itself to two major ideological shifts in Moscow. One which may prove of great benefit to them permits them to drop force and violence from their theory of revolution. It may turn out to give them a chance to evade the basic Federal anti-Communist law which strikes at them on this point.

They have been preparing to emerge from underground and resume their efforts, which fizzled two years ago in a wave of public disapproval, to sponsor a new farmer-labor party. Any suggestion of persecution now is bound to reawaken a certain amount of liberal sympathy among non-Communists, which is the objective of both new and old "front" organizations now being activated.

The Communists also are engaged in trying to digest the anti-Stalin line and adapt it to an appearance in this country of reputation of many things which caused them to be so hated. They are having trouble about this, as BANGOR—Mrs. Estelle Crutcher, well-known lecturer, will speak at revival services, April 1-8, here at Calvary Church of the Nazarene, Northampton and Miller Sts. Services will be at 7 p.m. each day.

Mrs. Crutcher was born in India of missionary parents and spent the early years of her life in that land, where she received her elementary and secondary education.

In recent years she had the privilege of returning to India to give three months in evangelism on our Nazarene field. An interesting side line of this trip was a visit to Damascus, Syria; Amman, Transjordan; and Old City Jerusalem.

Mother
Mrs. Crutcher is the mother of three sons and three daughters and has 16 grandchildren. Her eldest daughter, Hazel, is the wife of Rev. Earl Lee. They are serving as missionaries in India. She has had a continuous ministry in the Church of the Nazarene for over 30 years, having served both as pastor and evangelist. Her labors have taken her over the entire eastern section of the country from Canada to Florida.

Elwood Parry, Bethlehem, will direct the music. He is the son of Rev. R. O. Parry, formerly of North Bangor.

Recruiting Campaign
BONN, March 29 (P) — West Germany plans a vigorous recruiting campaign because too few men are enlisting in the new armed forces. Only 21,000 men have volunteered and the Defense Ministry estimates these will shake down to 150,000 fit for service. The goal is 220,000 to 250,000 professionals as the core of half a million.

A FUND FOR THE FUTURE. Four local churches got flood relief funds from Jaycees last night. Man who distributed checks totaling $530 from State Jaycees Church Flood Relief Fund was William D. Johnson, Stroudsburg, State coordinator. Accepting checks were: H. L. Brooks, Little Bethel AME; Norman Johnson, Christian Missionary Alliance; Clifford Okuno, Seventh Day Adventist and Rev. Edward T. Houston, Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Jaycees Donate Funds To Four Churches

FOUR flood-stricken churches received donations from the Pennsylvania organization of Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters yesterday.

The money distributed totaled $530. Each of the four churches got a check for $132.50. It is intended to help them rebuild their damaged buildings or for any other expenses the churches may have had due to damage from the August flood last year.

William D. Johnson, N. Fifth St. State coordinator for Jaycees flood relief funds, gave the checks to church representatives at The Daily Record office.

In making the presentation, Johnson, who is also secretary of the Pocono Jaycees chapter, told the church representatives:

"During the first dark days after the flood last year, State Jaycees began searching for a way in which they could help communities hit by flood waters.

Study

"It became apparent to the Jaycees after a study of the situation that some churches had been affected by the disaster. In many cases these churches and their congregations were so busy trying to help other victims that they had little time — and less funds — to help themselves.

"Because of the selfless devotion with which these churches — and this includes the four churches receiving funds tonight — pitched in to help the entire community, the Jaycees church flood relief fund came into being.

"The amount of money contained in these checks is not great. But it represents the spirit of thousands of Jaycees all over Pennsylvania and the nation. We hope that, in some way, we will help you to restore your churches and build for a better spiritual community."

Men accepting the checks from Johnson were Rev. Edward T. Houston, pastor of Pilgrim Holiness Church, 208 Main St.; H. L.

Education Council To Meet With Slate Belt Officials

BANGOR.—The State Council of Education has called a meeting for Thursday, May 3, of officials of seven Slate Belt School districts to reconsider the jointure question.

The school district which would be affected are Bangor, Roseto and Lower Mount Bethel Township, which are already in a three district jointure, and East Bangor, Portland, Washington Township and Upper Mount Bethel Township.

The State Council of Education previously turned down a petition for a jointure of the East Bangor, Portland, Washington Township and Upper Mount Bethel districts.

The purpose of the meeting is to determine whether to allow two separate joint systems in the same area. The hearing will be conducted from 7 to 8 p. m. at the State Education Building in Harrisburg.

One representative of each district will be given 10 minutes to state the position of his district.

Judge Refuses To Interfere

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Federal District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy today declined to interfere with plans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to hold its convention in Dallas, Tex., Aug. 12.

A group of Pennsylvania members had asked the court to ban the meeting in Dallas. They asserted that racial segregation practices in that city would place Negro members of the organization at a disadvantage.

But Judge McGarraghy declared he was not empowered to interfere with the management of the organization in this case. He further found that those making the protest were not denied any rights under the VFW constitution and that, at any rate, the action was brought too late.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Easter morning may dawn bright and clear—the throngs may be out in their Easter finery, the corsages and Easter lilies glow bright as jewels, the anthems ring triumphant; but somehow I feel that I've already had my Easter.

The snow was hanging thick on the trees, the roads mushy underfoot. The Thursday night shoppers mingled with worshippers, and they all wore their winter coats and galoshes—and didn't look like Easter at all.

Except for the new and very young communicants who would have looked like Easter even without those pretty hats that rested so strangely on unaccustomed heads, those crisp new suits not yet settled to active young bodies. They have a natural shine, anyway.

But the very fact that the services on Holy Thursday and Good Friday are sandwiched in between the activities of ordinary work-a-day life, that people come unpretentiously and not thinking to be seen, somehow emphasizes the importance and the meaning.

So, whether or not the youngsters make an Easter bunny snowman, and no matter how confused things get with deciding which Easter service to go to, when to have the egg hunt or whether there are still enough young cousins to bother, with the last minute search for white gloves that match, and the last dash of shoe polish to cover fresh scratches on shoes.

Whatever happens—those of us who have made our peace can perhaps cling to it—at least until Easter Monday.

How To Use Decorated Eggs-After

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor
No one would deny the young the pleasures of coloring hard-cooked eggs for Easter. But how to use the eggs after they've seen their day of glory?

One way we like is to stuff them and serve them hot in a cream sauce enlivened with ham. The filling for these eggs is one we particularly approve of; it has just the right amount of mustard and other seasonings. The sauce is a fine one for a family because it's made with instant nonfat dry milk powder. All experts on keeping family food budgets in line agree that this product is an economical and nutritious one.

Hot Stuffed Eggs
Ingredients: 6 hard-cooked eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, pepper, 2 cups water, 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup (or more) finely diced cooked ham, 2 to 3 teaspoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons minced parsley.

Method: Shell eggs; cut in half lengthwise; remove yolks and mash. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and a dash of pepper; mix well. Fill center of each egg half with egg-yolk mixture. Place in an 8-inch square baking pan. Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder and flour over the surface. Beat with a rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Add ham, grated onion and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cook until thickened a little more. Pour sauce over deviled eggs; sprinkle with minced parsley. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated.

Local Travelers Find Many Adventures In Mexico

By Hazel Irvine
Colorful, exciting, gay; unusual, quaint, historic—when most people think of travel, all these adjectives call to mind distant countries across thousands of miles of ocean; countries like France, Italy, India, or South Africa. Yet right at our back door is a country as excitingly different, as richly historic, as quaintly peopled, and as colorfully costumed as any of these. We speak of Mexico, that land of contrasts just below our southern border waiting to be "discovered" by any vacationer seeking a different atmosphere.

Two such travelers are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hinesy of Shepherd's Corners, Dingmans Ferry, who have recently returned from a two-month trailer trip through Mexico. Using Laredo, Texas, as their jumping-off point, they followed the Pan-American Highway south to Mexico City. This famous highway is a good, black-top road running through numerous Indian villages as well as through such large Mexican towns as Monterrey, Victoria, Mantes, Valles and Pachuca. While in Mantes, the Hinesys' trailer hitch broke and they were forced to stay overnight in a local motel. However, their accommodations were just as comfortable as any modern American motel and were very clean. The next night, while still having trailer difficulty, Sally and Lew slept in a motel in an Indian village. This was slightly more primitive, but was also very clean and everywhere they went in Mexico, the people were most friendly and hospitable. Sally and Lew particularly enjoyed the children and had great fun giving them candy and novelties from the United States.

Family Life
The roadway between Victoria and Mexico City runs along the base of a mountain range, through dense tropical jungles and huge fields of sugar cane. Our travelers observed women doing the family wash in the roadside brooks, and carrying large baskets of food or clothing on their heads. The Hinesys stopped in many small towns where they watched native women painstakingly embroidering colorful blouses and skirts, or fashioning the intricate silver-wire jewelry for which Mexico is famous. Arriving in Mexico City, Sally and Lew were able to find excellent accommodations in the best hotels for $4 to $6 a day, including meals. Similar rooms in the United States would cost $15. For two weeks the Hinesys explored every nook and cranny of the capital city. They saw markets, cathedrals and shops. They bought baskets, souvenirs and silver jewelry. They traveled on foot, they traveled by bus, and they traveled by taxi. In one of the latter, Lew lost his movie camera but he was pleasantly surprised when, two days later after inserting an advertisement in the newspaper, the camera was returned none the worse for its wandering. This merely confirmed the Hinesys' opinion that all Mexicans are extremely honest, contrary to the general impression created by some of our less cerebral American movies.

Aztec Pyramids
While in Mexico City, Sally and Lew took a day-trip to the Aztec Pyramids which are just about twenty-eight miles northeast of the city. These ancient temples to the Sun and Moon are some of the most interesting relics of prehistoric times to be seen anywhere in the world and rival, in archeological interest, the famous Sphinx and pyramids of Egypt.

Journeying on, Mr. and Mrs. Hinesy next visited Puebla, a university town having twenty churches. It was also the home of several pottery, onyx, and basket factories and our friends were welcomed as observers in all of them. Another town only forty-six miles from Mexico City was Cuernavaca. Here, in slightly less sophisticated surroundings than the urban Mexican capital, the Hinesys just relaxed for a few days enjoying the ideal climate. This town is even higher than Mexico City, and is near the famed volcano, Popocatepetl—the nemesis of all spelling contestants.

Next stop was Taxco where the principal industry is making silverware, and then on to Acapulco, a beautiful city on the shores of the Pacific Ocean. Only fifteen years ago this was little more than a fishing village, but it has now become one of the plushiest and most famous seaside resorts in America. Partially retracing their route to Mexico City, since there are no good cross country roads in this part of Mexico, the Hinesys arrived at Guadalajara which proved to be the city they liked best of all. To them it seemed almost like a Mexican Allentown. It is very modern, very clean, had excellent hotels and motels, and the prices were even lower than they were in Mexico City. As a matter of fact, anywhere in Mexico, two people can travel for the same amount of money as it would cost one to travel in the United States.

Hints For Travelers
Which brings us to the end of our little travelogue, with some pertinent tips to any reader who may have been inspired to similarly adventure across the border. First, while no series of inoculations is necessary, one must be sure to be vaccinated. There are no difficulties about getting into Mexico, but it is necessary in order to get back into the States. Secondly, you should take along some water purification tablets. Mexico is clean, but most Americans become subject to a mild form of dysentery if they drink any water or eat uncooked vegetables or salads or unpeeled fruit. Many resort to drinking beer or mineral water, both of which are extremely good in Mexico, and if you like soft drinks just ask for "una limonada preparada con Tehuacan" which will result in a lemonade made with their famous mineral water. Thirdly, until you become oriented, especially in Mexico City where the climate is quite rare because of the altitude, it is wise to eat lightly in American-type restaurants. After a few days the highly spiced and rather heavy Mexican food will be more palatable, and you will also have seen enough Spanish menus to have some idea of what you are ordering.

This is the second trip Mr. and Mrs. Hinesy have made to Mexico, and they are so enthralled with the country, they would like to visit it a third time.

Teen-Agers Can Prepare Vacation Supper

This casserole is so easy to prepare, a teen-ager can put it together and give mother a rest! It features frankfurter, sauerkraut and apple casserole; potatoes, bread tray, fruit and cookies, and a beverage.

Frankfurter, Sauerkraut and Apple Casserole.

Ingredients: 2 large red apples, 1 can (1 pound and 13 ounces) sauerkraut, 1 tablespoon honey, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 pound frankfurters, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Method: Quarter apples; core and slice; do not peel. Mix sauerkraut, honey and mustard. Turn half of sauerkraut into a 2-quart casserole. Top with half of the apples. Cut frankfurters in halves crosswise. Place half of frankfurters, spiced-fashion around edge of casserole. Repeat layers. Dot with butter; cover. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes.

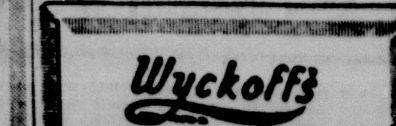

I feel that the usual type of column would be very much out of place today when Christians are observing the crucifixion of their Lord. This is not a day to be clever or witty, and it certainly is not a fitting day to be commercial. It is, I feel, a day when we should give the grasping, calculating, speculative mind a rest and let the heart take over. Somehow we fail to do this often enough. The heart is a pretty wonderful thing, when we let it have its own way. But we permit our heads to rule many times when we'd do better to let sentiment take over.

From the vantage point of this year's Good Friday, I can look back over many other Good Fridays and see a big procession of Me's walking along. Of them all, the Me that impresses me most was an eight year old on roller skates, racing another friend the length of Scott street. It was a beautiful day... the kind of a day that should be bottled as perfume or rare wine, and kept forever. To us it was perfect, because we were out of school. There was nothing in the world to do but have fun and look forward to the wonderful thrill of Easter's candy, gifts, and new dress.

I can remember very well the sudden disappearance of the sun. It grew dark and my friend and I looked at each other wondering whether to turn back or go on. In a few minutes we would probably have an April downpour. "You know what it is?" he finally asked. "It's Christ dying for us." That was the first time we had stopped in our round of fun to think about Christ, or the Cross, or the reason for this pre-Easter vacation we were so thoroughly enjoying. It had a sobering effect on us, I recall... and we carried our skates home, discussing the Good Friday story we had learned in Sunday School.

Sometimes today I feel very much like this child roller skating, who was having so much fun she forgot about Good Friday. It would be very easy, working in a store laden with frilly, frivolous Easter merchandise, to forget why it is that Christians will celebrate this Sunday, and to overlook entirely the fact that they should feel subdued, humble, and unworthy today.

This afternoon from 12 until 3 o'clock, our store, and many others along Main Street, will be closed so that those who wish may attend services of worship. It is a custom that will be an enriching one for all who participate... for unless we know something of reverence and regret today, we cannot possibly enjoy to the fullest the rich, exciting, heart-lifting beauty of Sunday, when we blossom anew with the spiritual promise born of sorrow.

'Rehabilitation' Of Hungary's 1949 Purge Victims Shouts Warning To World's Leftists

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst
THERE'S a line in the Associated Press dispatch about the "rehabilitation" of Hungary's 1949 purge victims which shouts a warning to the world's Leftists with whom communism is seeking to establish a pact.

It is a reminder, too, of how the victorious Western powers, after World War II, withheld their cooperation from the Socialists of Central Europe and left them no place to turn except into the arms of Communism.

Some of the purge victims associated with László Rajk, Communist leader who was hanged, were Social Democrats. The story says:

Results

"The Social Democratic Party was merged with the Communist Party in June 1948 to form the Hungarian Workers Party and subsequently lost its identity."

Those few words encompass one of the greatest tragedies of the postwar years in Europe, and accurately describe the results of one of the most dangerous Communist tactics. It is to first join them, then swallow them.

That is what the Russian Reds are now trying to do with their reputation of Stalin's anti-Socialist policies, including the tenet that revolutions can be clinched only by force.

The Reds are making their play now, after 10 years of avoiding official responsibility in favor of obstruction and political sabotage, for political power through formation of "popular" fronts with Leftist but non-Communist forces.

Any tempted groups would do well to remember what happened to Hungary's Social Democrats.

The Rajk case emphasizes anew the horrors of the Communist system of forced confessions, Rajk foreign minister and an old-line

Communist extremist himself, deserves little sympathy. He rose to power through the secret police and got into trouble through competition with his bosses. It's the frameup system, now admitted by Premier Rakosi, which tags the Communists for what they are.

Freedom for Rajk's Social Democrat associates who were imprisoned, and restoration to the rolls of patriots of the names of those who were executed, is a cynical reversal to fit a new political tactic. This tactic may itself be reversed at any time in a part of the world where expediency, not principle, is the rule.

The once gay and colorful people of Hungary, now pressed into the gray and soggy mold of a ruthless society, are bound to notice that no Kremlin edict will roll the stone from Rajk's tomb this Easter morning.

The word "magnet" derives from Magnesian, ancient Turkish city where the magnetism of a lodestone was observed.

Fred Miller visited Mrs. Donald Smith at Bethlehem on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rinker visited Mr. and Mrs. Marley Johnson of Palmetton.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson of Camden, N.J., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William High.

Sports Trail --

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP)—A few sun-baked impressions brought back from the Florida baseball camps, where the rookies hang on to the words of the veterans, and the veterans just hope to hang on.

The general idea is that all in all the crop of rookies this year is the best of recent years, with the Red Sox and Yankees coming up with particularly fine groups of large, well-muscled young men who loom as future stars.

The individual carrying the biggest load, through no fault of his own, is little Luis Aparicio, who was led out to the shortstop position at the White Sox Tampa camp and told in effect: "there it is; it's all yours." If he can't do it, the Sox might as well fold their tents, but Marly Marion is convinced the kid will do, if he can hit the size of his collar.

Brooklyn "Set"

The most "set" team seems to be the Brooklyn Dodgers, although there is quite a battle going on between Jackie Robinson and Randy Jackson for the third base spot. Casey Stengel probably could name his opening-day Yankee lineup right now if he dared to do so.

We have a vague idea that the St. Louis Cardinals can be rated a decided dark horse in the National League, despite their seventh-place finish of last year. Freddie Hutchinson figures to get a lot out of the young fellows, and the return of Vinegar Bend Mizell should be tonic for the pitching staff, which needed one badly in 1955.

Mantle Impressive

The most impressive individual unquestionably has been Mickey Mantle, who has been hitting often and far, and who, barring leg injuries to which he seems unusually susceptible, should have his greatest year to date.

Ted Williams never did like exhibition games, so his absence from the Red Sox lineup cannot be taken as an indication he won't be ready when the season opens. His minor leg injury just gives him an additional excuse for taking it easy. His power and batting eye still are with him.

One writer standing behind the batting cage offered to make a small wager Ted couldn't hit two balls out of the park. Williams just said, "I'll take that," and promptly blasted the first two pitches over the fence, with the next two hitting the top of the wall. Look for a great season from him.

Seek Better Pitching

The wall of all clubs is for more top-grade pitching, a situation not at all unusual, and every manager prefaces his remarks on the immediate future of his team with "if our pitching holds up."

That pitching figures to be the big factor in the pennant races this year is indicated by the fact that more clubs than usual seem to have enough power in their lineups to get the runs across.

'Murderer' Row

The Yankees, Dodgers, Reds, Braves, Cardinals, Red Sox, and even the White Sox, now that they have Larry Doby, figure to have their own versions of murderers' row. Washington, Kansas City and Baltimore could use more oomph at the plate, and if Al Kaline's shoulder doesn't heal soon, Detroit is going to be in tough shape. The Indians figure to miss Doby's big punch.

As of now we just have to pick the Yankees and Dodgers, but we can't get away from the idea that the races in both leagues are going to be closer than tomorrow.

Costa Favored To Top Hamia On TV Today

NEW YORK, March 29 (AP)—Cherif Hamia, 25, latest of the French boxing imports, is a 2-1 underdog to featherweight contender Carmelo (Chubby) Costa of Brooklyn in their television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The Parisian by way of Algeria makes his U.S. pro bow highly recommended by his 23-1-1 record, his 10-round knockout over world bantamweight champion Robert Cohen, and an unbeaten streak of nine.

Rated a strong puncher with 13 knockouts to his credit, the baby-faced Frenchman will have to show plenty of speed to catch up to his Mercury-footed opponent.

Costa, 21, and the No. 3 contender of the 126-pound division, darts in and out, relying on fast flurries to score and swift legs to evade counter punches.

Unbeaten in 7

The Brooklyn blond, unbeaten in his last seven scraps, has a 29-2-4 record. Only a light puncher, he has stopped just three of his foes. Starting at 10 p.m., the bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC-TV, radio) coast to coast.

Retains Orient Title

TOKYO, March 29 (AP)—Japan's Hitoshi Misako, 111½, piled up a big lead tonight to outpoint Danny Kidd, 112, of the Philippines in 32 rounds and regain the Orient flyweight championship on a unanimous decision.

Dick Gray Gets AP All-State Court Honorable Mention

Cavalier Ace L-N's League Only Selectee

DICK GRAY, one of the main cogs in East Stroudsburg High's 1955-56 basketball machine, gained honorable mention in the Associated Press' All-State basketball team released yesterday in Harrisburg.

GRAY, considered by many area experts as one of the outstanding players in the Lehigh-Northampton League, was the circuit's only representative on the state-wide "dream" squad.

Dick, Basketball Co-Captain, has been the guiding hand behind the Cavaliers since the past two years. He lettered, however, for four years at the East Stroudsburg School.

Besides being a member of the court team for four years, Gray also has been a varsity participant for four years in baseball and two seasons in football.

Set For Colgate

Gray, who weighs in the neighborhood of 160 pounds and stretches 5-9, plans to enroll at Colgate University in Hamilton, N. Y., this fall. The Cavalier player recently was the recipient of a $1400 scholarship award.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, West Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

'S' Club Set For Car Wash Day Saturday

THE VARSITY S Club of Stroudsburg High will embark on its second annual car washing venture Saturday, starting at 9 a.m. and closing at 5 p.m.

The Mountaineer athletes will set up "wash" stations at three service stations in the area. They are McConnell's Gas Station, near the Morey elementary school; Schmittman's Gulf Station, Fifth and Main Streets; and DeCamp's Service Station, at the stoplight in Delaware Water Gap.

Prices established for the wash jobs are $1.25 for each car with white-walled tires and $1.00 for each automobile with plain tires.

For Awards Fund

Proceeds derived from the project will go toward awards and other expenses incurred by the group during the 1955-56 year.

Braves Hopes Up; Conley On Mend

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves received a shot in the arm today when an orthopedic surgeon said that right-hander Gene Conley's ailing shoulder showed "definite improvement."

The medical verdict came from Dr. Michael Dicosola, who examined the 6-foot skycraper for the second time in four days after an original checkup revealed Conley, 25, had "chronic tendinitis" or an inflamed tendon in his right shoulder.

Dicosola advised the genial pitcher not to throw a ball for at least a week and to continue prescribed treatments.

Boy Hit By Ball Dies In Hospital

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 29 (AP)—Donald Ywka, 14, of Owego, struck on the head yesterday by a baseball, died in a hospital here today five minutes after being admitted.

The ball struck the boy during practice in the gymnasium at Owego Free Academy. He was knocked unconscious, but his mother, Mrs. Louis Ywka, said that he regained consciousness and appeared to be all right. He was in a coma when admitted to the hospital.

Seranton Doctors On Athletic Board

HARRISBURG, March 29 (AP)—Gov. Leader today designated nine doctors from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Seranton as the state's first medical advisory board to the Athletic Commission.

Chosen chairman of the nine-member board for one year is Dr. Samuel Bellet of Philadelphia.

Members named included Dr. W. M. Donovan, Seranton, 1 year; Dr. Milton J. Goldstein, Seranton, 1 year.

Only One Returnee

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—Only shortstop Guy Tirabassi remains of Coach Guy Bedenk's 1955 infield as Penn State prep for its baseball opener against Western Maryland, April 7.

Bob Mlkvy Gains First Five, Mate Eckert Is Mentioned

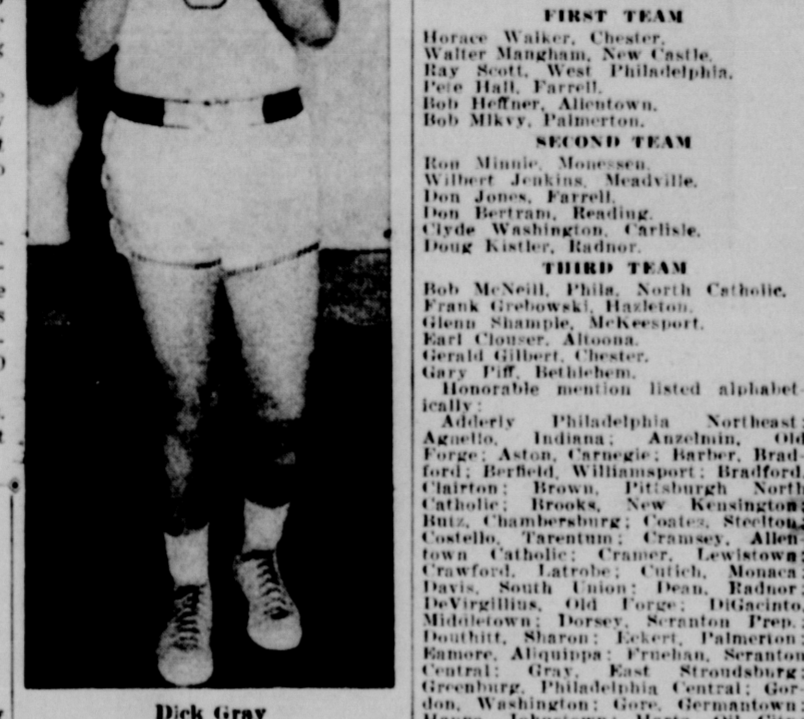

HARRISBURG, March 29 (AP)—A sharpshooting quorum of veterans and two standout newcomers make up the 1956 Associated Press All State Scholastic Basketball Team named today.

Topping the 18th annual All-State team is Chester's superb Horace Walker. The Clippers' ace was top vote getter this year to win a berth on the first team two years in a row.

Other veteran courtsters on the team: Walt Mangham, New Castle; Ray Scott, West Philadelphia and Pete Hall, Farrell, all seniors.

The newcomers: Bob Mlkvy, Palmerton, and Bob Heffner, Allentown, both juniors.

The 1956 squad—expanded to six men because the talent demanded it—features a tremendous scoring punch, with accent on the rebounds.

Littler Rips Par To Grab Azalea Lead

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 29 (AP)—Crew-cut Gene Littler, 25, laced par by six shots today with a 32-34-66 to take a one-stroke lead over three rivals in the opening round of the $12,500 Azalea Open golf tournament.

The professional from Palm Springs, Calif., was not alone in the par wrecking that went on over the 6,795-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. Forty-one players in the field of 142 bettered par 72 and eight others matched it.

Sharing second place with 67 were professionals Arnold Palmer, 1954 national amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa.; Stan Leonard, Leebate, Canada, and George Bayer, one long hitter from Cincinnati.

At their heels only one shot back with 68 came eight other pros, including Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City, Fla., who only last Sunday scored his first major victory at Miami Beach, Fla.

Ford Tabs 68

Another 68 shooter was PGA champion Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., who faltered to 37 after a sizzling 31 start in which he birdied five holes going out. A flubbed pitch shot on the 12th and a trapped tee shot on 16 brought bogies and cost him a chance to at least tie Littler.

Pressing the leaders were six men at 69, including last year's winner here, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex. In addition, nine men shot 70 and 14 hit 71.

Scores of other Pennsylvanians: Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., 34-34-68.

John Serafin, Fox Hills, 35-35-70.

Mike Souchak, Grossinger's, N. Y., 36-35-70.

Cavilan Drops Close Verdict To Frenchman

PARIS, March 29 (AP)—Germinal Ballarin of France hammered out a 10-round decision over Kid Gavilan of Cuba in a middleweight boxing match tonight.

It was a close decision but the Frenchman gained the edge in the fight where the veteran Gavilan used to be supreme.

The fight ended with Gavilan's manager, Yamil Chade, in a now-familiar pose—protesting. Chade protested the decision in general and particularly the Frenchman's holding.

Is Reprimanded

Ballarin was twice reprimanded for holding during the fight. Gavilan weighed 150, Ballarin 158.

Warriors Oust Nats 109-104; In NBA Final

PHILADELPHIA, March 29 (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors' parlayed Paul Arizin's 35 points, consistent late game foul shooting and the old pro home court jinx into a 109-104 victory over the Syracuse Nationals tonight to win the Eastern National Basketball Assn. playoffs.

Arizin, the sensational jump shot artist, connected for 13 field goals and 9 from the free throw line, to lead the Eastern Division regular season champions to their third victory in the five-game semi-final series.

The Warriors won all three of their playoff victories on the home court where Syracuse has been unable to win in two years.

Consistent with what has become a professional basketball custom, Syracuse's two wins were scored on their home court, where the Warriors have been almost equally unsuccessful in winning.

The Warriors were ahead 32-28 at the end of the first quarter, 56-48 at the half and were outscored by Syracuse 25-22 in the third period.

AP Sports Writer Is Dead At 54

Brooks, Yanks All Even; Bucs Rout Red Sox Rookie

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates landed on rookie Red Sox southpaw Frank Baumann for six runs in the sixth inning to overtake and outlast Boston's kid lineup today for their fourth straight exhibition victory, 11-10.

Baumann entered the game in the sixth after Dave Sisler, another Sox bonus rookie, had held Pittsburgh to three runs and four hits.

Bothered earlier this spring by a sore arm, Baumann walked four men and yielded three hits as 10 Pirates went to the plate.

Two More Runs

In the seventh, he gave up two more runs on Gene Freese's lead-off homer over the leftfield wall and a pair of singles by Dan Kravitz and Eddie O'Brien and an error by Hose rightfielder Faye Throneberry.

Ceccarelli Stars

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 29 (AP)—A brilliant pitching job by Art Ceccarelli, young Kansas City Athletics' lefthander, highlighted a 2-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers today.

Starter Virgil Trucks was taken out when he twisted his knee pitching in the fifth for Detroit.

Orioles Win In 11th

MESA, Ariz., March 29 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles piled up four runs in the 11th inning to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9-5 today in the first extra-inning game of the spring for both teams.

An error by Owen Friend handed the Orioles two runs in the ninth to send the game into overtime.

Abernathy Cuffed

ORLANDO, Fla., March 29 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox clobbered Ted Abernathy for nine runs in four innings, including a three-run homer by Cal Abrams, and then breezed to a 12-2 victory over Washington today. The Senators committed five errors.

Klu Clouts Homer

TAMPA, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Big Ted Kluszewski, sidelined for two weeks because of a pulled hip muscle, got a home run and a single in a game the Cincinnati Redlegs "B" team played with the Charleston Senators today.

Ft. Wayne Wins; Will Meet Phila.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., March 29 (AP)—The Fort Wayne Pistons beat the St. Louis Hawks tonight, 102-97, for the third straight time and won the National Basketball Assn. Western Division playoff championship, 3-2.

The victory put Fort Wayne in the best-of-seven championship series against the Philadelphia Warriors, who beat Syracuse for the Eastern Division title tonight. They will open at Philadelphia in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon and play the second game here Sunday night.

Indians Rap Giants

TUCSON, Ariz., March 29 (AP)—Earl Averill and Chico Carrasquel hit home runs today as the Cleveland Indians beat the New York Giants 10-5 for their sixth victory in nine games with the National League.

Willie Mays turned in the fielding feature of the game—a running catch of a drive hit by Vic Wertz. It was similar to his catch that robbed Wertz of a home run in the 1954 World Series.

Cards Rout Simmons

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Curt Simmons, making his fourth start of the spring season today, pitched three hitless innings and then gave up four runs as the St. Louis Cardinals rapped the Philadelphia Phillies 8-6 in an exhibition game.

Logan Grand Slams

TAMPA, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Johnny Logan's grand slam homer, a 390 foot poke over the left-centerfield fence off Joe Nuxhall in the second inning, enabled the Milwaukee Braves to down the Redlegs, 5-3 today.

Pitcher Marv Grissom is the oldest player for the New York Giants. He is 38.

Where's this guy Les Abeloff?

... the man who never was?

Frankly we got a chuckle out of being left out of yesterday's ad. But it just goes to show that Sometimes you can't be everywhere at once.

Customers come in looking for you and you may not be able to see all of them at the same time, or (as in our ad yesterday) you may not be in at the particular moment someone wants you.

But whether or not I'm on the scene when you make a new or used car deal, you'll get the same fair treatment, courtesy, and personal guarantee of dependability from anyone and everyone at Stroudsburg Garage.

For our business is built on personal service! Les Abeloff
